

Congressman Teague got rich off of working class families.

Congressman Teague is the 12th richest member of Congress. His career in business and in politics has been full of greed and corruption at the expense of working New Mexico families.

Took a $38,000 pay raise

In Congress, Teague decided to look after himself just like the other New Mexico politicians he is allied with by taking a $38,000 pay raise.

Used his Official office to help his businesses

Newspapers report Congressman Teague used his official office to request $4.8 million of your tax dollars be used to repave a street in Hobbs where he owns eleven different businesses. Instead of using that money to help people, Teague picked a street where he had business interests. He's just another corrupt politician looking out for himself.

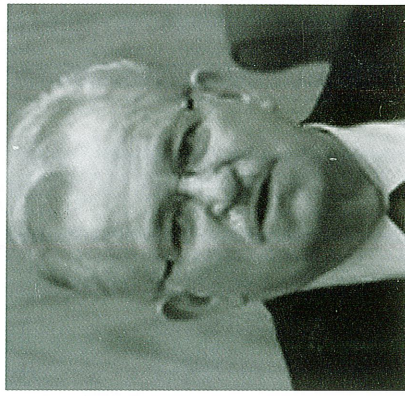

Cut off his employees' health care

According to news sources, four days before Christmas, Teague informed his employees he was cutting off their health care. When families were hoping to enjoy the holidays, they learned they needed to choose between buying presents for their children or buying health care for their family.

Gave himself a $3.3 million bonus

Not long before Congressman Teague told his employees they were losing their health care, he gave himself a $3.3 million bonus. Official records and newspaper reports confirm it. Just 10% of his bonus could have paid for everyone's health care. But Teague chose greed and lining his own pockets before working families.
